RESIDENTIAL SOFTENER SIZING GUIDE

Water hardness and water usage dictates how often the water softener will regenerate and how much salt will be required. The chart below roughly breaks down the unit size required based on grains of hardness and household size. To get the most accurate unit size (for efficiency), follow the steps below to calculate manually.

SIZING CHART

Number of Persons in Household	Grains of Hardness in Water
	3 - 6	7 - 11	12 - 21	22+
2	22,000 - 30,000 Grains
3		30,000 - 40,000 Grains
4
5+			40,000 - 70,000+ Grains

CALCULATE MANUALLY

STEP 1: ESTIMATED HARDNESS SETTING

Collect the following from the customer:
- Iron level (ppm)
- Water Hardness level (gpg)

_____ x 5 = _____
Iron (ppm) — Total Iron

_____ + _____ = _____
Total Iron — Total Hardness (gpg) — Estimated Hardness Setting

STEP 2: TOTAL DAILY WATER USAGE (GALLONS)

Collect the following from the customer:
- Number of persons in household

_____ x 70 = _____
Number of persons in household — Total Daily Water Usage

STEP 3: DAILY CAPACITY

_____ x _____ = _____
Total Daily Water Usage — Estimated Hardness Setting — Daily Capacity

STEP 4: APPROXIMATE UNIT SIZE

_____ x 4 = _____
Daily Capacity — Approximate Unit Size
